

Concord's 2011 Moratorium Roads

The Concord road moratorium includes all roads that have been paved in the last three years. The moratorium prohibits street-cutting permits on these roads within 2 full years after the year of construction. The permit season runs from April 1 to November 15 each year. For example, a road paved in 2011 will not be out of moratorium until April 1, 2014.

Roads depicted as 2011 Proposed Paving Streets are those roads that are scheduled to be re-paved during the 2011 construction season. Any project requiring a street cutting permit will need to be completed prior to the road being paved. Please coordinate with the Engineering office on these projects.

*These streets were paved with the binder course during the previous construction season. It is anticipated that the top course of pavement will be completed during the early spring of the new construction season. If you have a project that requires a street opening permit on these streets please consult with the Engineering Division as soon as possible. Once the top course of pavement has been completed no street cutting permits will be approved.
